To Unshrink Wool

Canberra A revolutionary process for shrink-proofing wool has been developed, the Australian Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization reports.

The process is expected to have a profound impact on the wool and textiles industry. It would enable woolen garments to stand any condition of machine washing likely to be met in practical use.

Fabric knitted from treated yarn and subjected for four hours in a washing machine showed less than 1 percent shrinkage, officials said.

Patents have been sought in the major wool-consuming countries.

On The Lawn with LARRY LAWRENCE

I often wondered whether people really stopped to study those big colored pictures of lawn weeds that are displayed in so many garden departments. I got my answer last Saturday. Down at my local store there must have been nine or ten people crowded around one of the circular exhibits. They were studying.

This is the season of course. When a man walks behind a spreader or lawn mower in Spring he gets a close-up of weeds that aren't so obvious from the living room window. They offend his eye and rouse his pugnacious instincts. And, of course, he wants to know the villains' names so that he can eradicate them with certainty. Hence the seasonal interest in weed identification.

If you have strange weeds in your own lawn and your dealer doesn't have a "weed-o-rama", don't despair. Dig up a sample, wrap it in metal foil without added moisture and mail it to Scotts, Marysville, Ohio. They'll tell you what it is and how to get rid of it. Or if you've got a whole variety of offenders, ask for their 1966 Lawn Book (free) which contains life size color photographs of the twenty most common weeds.

Convert Your Postal Savings To U.S. Bonds

Acting Postmaster Robert R. DeForge today urged local citizens who have funds on deposit in the abolished Postal Savings System to convert their holdings into United States Savings Bonds.

"Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, who is chairman of the Federal Savings Bonds Campaign, has appealed to the 930,000 Americans who have $285,000,000 on deposit with the Post Office Department to convert their investments into United States Savings Bonds," Mr. DeForge stated.

"I join him in urging local citizens who have Postal Savings Accounts to make that change which will be of great benefit to both themselves and our country. Savings Bonds offer every advantage of convenience and security formerly available through Postal Savings Certificates plus many other advantages unique to Savings Bonds."

Among those special advantages, the Agawam Postmaster said, are Savings Bonds' new, higher interest rate of 4.15 per cent and "the great intangible benefit of supporting our country in the fight for freedom in the world and for economic progress and security here at home."

Mr. DeForge said details about the procedure for conversion can be obtained from the postmaster of any Postal Savings Depository Post Office (which includes Agawam).

The Postal Savings System, in operation since January 1, 1911, was discontinued April 27, 1966, by Act of Congress. The Post Office Department presently is liquidating its accounts and on July 1, 1967, will transfer all unclaimed assets of the System to the Treasury Dept.

The decision to abolish the Postal Savings System was made because of declining interest in it by the general public as a savings and investment medium. Higher interest rates paid by financial institutions and other means of investment had attracted the bulk of funds which formerly went into Postal Savings and the convenience factor was negated by expanded hours of service by banks.

The original purpose of the Postal Savings System were to (1) get money out of hiding, (2) attract the savings of immigrants who were accustomed to saving at post offices in their native countries, (3) provide safe depositories for people who had lost confidence in private banks and (4) provide more convenient depositories for savings of working people who were unable to bank during regular banking hours. "Those purposes have long since been fulfilled," Postmaster DeForge commented, "and, as Mr. O'Brien has emphasized, no greater new purpose could now be served by funds on deposit in the Postal Savings System than to put them to work for America in the form of United States Savings Bonds."

The Last School Bell

For millions of school children, the time of respite from books, homework and tests is almost at hand. Thoughts of a summer job, the playground, a camping trip, or a swim in the neighborhood pool are intruding more and more on academic pursuits. Both the young and the old need a time to refresh their spirits, soak up what they have learned and take a look at the course of their life and work.

For many high school and college students, the last school bell of this year will mean graduation and the greater responsibility of putting to use what they have learned in productive work in their communities, their nation and their families. The habit of learning is the most valuable lesson they can carry away from their days of formal education. The ability to learn and adapt is part of living in this fast changing world. It is still true that knowledge without action is futile, but it is more valid than ever before to observe that action without knowledge is disaster.

The last school bell of the year brings change. It brings the fun of summer. May it bring also a time for young people to gain new resolve to pursue the knowledge that awaits them in the school-rooms to come and in all the years of their lives that lie ahead.

Mailbox Improvement Week

The Post Office Department designates a week during May of each year as Mailbox Improvement Week. The week of May 16-21 has been selected this year.

Patrons receiving their mail at curbside boxes serviced by Rural Carrier or by carriers operating government vehicles are encouraged to examine, and improve where necessary, the appearance of their mailboxes.

The purpose of Mailbox Improvement Week is to call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles which are designed to protect the mail from weather, and which are neat in appearance, conveniently located, and safe to use.

Mailboxes that meet the above four important requirements contribute to a more efficient delivery operation and the result is an improved service to the entire route served by motorized vehicles.

Mailboxes and their supports should be kept painted and free from rust at all times.

Patron support of the Post Office Department's Mail Improvement Week has been very commendable and the department appreciates the efforts of those who have taken the time to maintain their mailboxes in a neat and orderly manner.

One Answer!—Clean Up!

Why is it important to prevent litter and safeguard beauty? Litter is not only a health and safety menace, but is expensive to clean up. Some $500 million in tax money is spent each year to de-litter highways, city streets, parks, beaches and other public areas, according to Keep America Beautiful, Inc.

Conversely, a clean well-kept community generates citizen pride, indicates stability and property values hold up.

Then what can the average person do about it? A great deal. In fact, he is the only one who can stop it because he is largely responsible for it. Here are some specific do's and don'ts: Keep a neat litter-free home and back yard. Teach your children not to litter and most important of all set a good example by not littering yourself. A good example will rub off on your children; also on your neighbors.

Always carry a litterbag in your car and be sure to use it. Encourage local youth groups to sponsor anti-litter projects. Use your influence as a taxpayer and voter to make sure local anti-littering ordinances are enforced.

Remember, only people are litterbugs. And people's habits can be changed.

Crank Crackdown

New York

The New York Telephone Company has set up an annoyance-call bureau to track down telephone violators.

"Our main effort will be directed against the persistent crank caller," a company spokesman said.

The crackdown, aimed at both identifying the calling number and assisting customers who have been victimized, is in line with steps taken in other states as far back as 1961.

The spokesman said the company had received 4,800 complaints in New York State in the past nine months. Since the bureau was established five weeks ago with trained personnel to move against violators, 1,000 complaints have been made.

Linda Ann Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Donovan of 67 Clematis Rd., Agawam, completed 10 weeks of basic Command (Women), United States Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md., and was graduated during a military review held on May 6.

The local WAVE, a graduate of Agawam High School, will spend a 14-day leave with her family before reporting to U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., for Hospital Corps School.

Hospital Apprentice Donovan received instruction in naval orientation, naval history, citizenship and current events, naval ships, aircraft and armament, Navy jobs and training, self-improvement, first aid, physical training and military bearing and drill during her indoctrination period.

The Agawam WAVE enlisted at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Springfield, Mass., for three years and was sworn in at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Albany, N. Y.

She was employed by Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, Mass., before entering the Navy. She enlisted on Feb. 25, 1966, Company 7.

Coin Shortage At An End

Washington

A House committee reports that, except for half dollars, the nation's coin shortage is over.

"There is presently no over-all shortage of pennies, nickels, dimes, or quarters, the coins most essential to commerce," the Government Operations Committee said in a report to the House.

But the committee said there is an enigmatic shortage of half dollars. "Neither their intrinsic nor numismatic value would appear to warrant their being held out of circulation," the report said, "yet although more than 481 million Franklin half dollars were minted between 1948 and 1963, and more than 450 million Kennedy half dollars have been issued, only relatively small numbers circulate."

Unusual Gifts

Last year 500 United States colleges received more than half a million gifts from the Western Electric Company.

The University of North Carolina received 3,000 electromagnetic switches in order to build a "talking typewriter." The University of Texas received a glass-blowing lathe. A shaker table was sent to a Williams College chemistry lab.

More than 40 years ago Western Electric began its college gift program for industrial materials which were worn, surplus, or obsolete, but which were still usable for those who needed them.

Their giving has grown to such proportions that there are 10 storerooms across the United States which do nothing but handle the gift items.

After an inventory is taken each year, a catalogue is printed and distributed free to more than 700 departments of science and engineering. The 1965 catalogue ran to 88 pages with 2,438 separate categories.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By Bill Chiba

Henry J. Colombo, 62, of Lyndon Lane, Ashland, is the newest appointee to the Massachusetts Fisheries and Game Board, having just been named by Governor John A. Volpe. The board is the governing body of the Division of Fisheries and Game.

Colombo, a retired production manager for Publisher's Book Bindery, Winchester, is an active beagler and angler and has belonged to numerous sportsmen's organizations in the eastern part of the state. He held various offices in most of them, helped organize the New England Association of Beaglers in 1934 and is currently an active member of the Ashland Fish and Game Club, a member of the Ashland Town Conservation Commission, and a member of the Eastern New England Beagle Association.

Find Quabbin Excellent Fishing.
Three anglers from Delaware recently stopped off at Quabbin Reservoir and in a few hours of fishing landed three lakere averaging 20 inches each. According to Red Chaplin, I & E Chief of the Division, the three had intended to go on farther north, but stopped off to give Quabbin a fling and decided to spend their vacation right there. Unfortunately no names were obtained, but the three commented favorably on Bay State fishing, and the fact that by stopping here they picked up two more days to fish they'd otherwise have spent on the road.

Lake Survey Maps Available
Fishermen interested in learning about Maine lakes have an opportunity to do so by taking advantage of a public information service of the Maine Fish and Game Department.

Upon request, the department will provide interested persons with an index of lakes and ponds which have been surveyed by fishery biologists. With the index, the sportsman can select the waters about which he would like more information. Survey reports for these waters can be obtained from the department at a cost of five cents apiece.

Included with each survey is a fisherman's map of the lake, showing water depths at various locations, a list of fish present, and fishery management practices recommended by the biologists.
Reports are available for approximately 1700 lakes and ponds, including 60 which were surveyed in 1965.
Single copies of the index of lakes for which survey reports are available may be obtained at no cost, by writing to the Information and Education Division, Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game, State Office Building, Augusta, Me.

Fast Action
Saturday morning broke clear, cold and blustery. The wind caused a good chop on Richmond Pond, Richmond, Mass., and made fishing for the stocked trout more difficult.

I was paired up with Mr. Floyd Scott, international skeet and trap shooter, while the other two boats had Henry Guidi and Joe Fedak in one and Stan Berchulski was fishing with Harley Shastany. Richmond Pond is not a large body of water, and it is not too deep. However, it is a good trout body with a low temperature being maintained throughout the year.

Stan and Harley took fish on the Barnes Special and Gray Ghost. I made up my own creations the night before utilizing the colors found in the Barnes and took fish on the home made creations. The moosehook wobbler produced for Henry while the rebel did a good job for Joe Fedak. The fish were hitting about any type of lure offered them.

Stan and Harley ended up with the most boated fish, 11. Floyd and I boated four good size rainbows and for some unexplained reason missed landing 10 to 12 trout that shook the hook before coming to net. It was very exasperating to say the least. I am going to hone every hook in my collection before venturing out again.

Friend In Need
Salisbury, Rhodesia
A puppy which lay trapped in a snare for six days in the bush was kept alive by its fellow pet, a crow, which took the dog food every day in its bill.

The dog and the crow belong to a couple living in the wild Wankie area of Rhodesia over 300 miles southwest of Salisbury.

The puppy's owners found it in the snare when they followed the crow one morning as it flew its daily shuttle service to the puppy carrying meat from its own food dish.

Despite its ordeal the dog was in almost perfect health.

Let's Go Fishin'

BY BOB BREWSTER

Outdoor Editor,
Mercury Outboards

THERE'S NO SURE THING
You can't miss! Or can you?
With exciting reports of fishing rolling in from lakes over the southern half of the country, it's difficult to understand why anyone going afloat should not bring home a bushel of big bass.

Yet it happens often, say the fishing experts at Mercury outboards, usually to the angler who neglects the basic rules of fish finding.

Despite their willingness to strike, springtime bass must be stalked almost as deliberately as during any other time of year, but not necessarily in the same locations.

Small fish can be found in the shallows, as they quickly respond to warming conditions first noted in bays and along the flats. Surface and shallow-running lures will usually give better results than natural baits.

To discover the big fish, you'll have to work the bottom, as in any season. Though lunkers make feeding forays into the shallows, they tend to spend most of their hours in the intermediate regions. To reach them, select deep-running or bottom bumping lures.

Time of day is less critical during this period than a few months from now. If you want to sleep late, go ahead. Several hours of sunshine may be required to provoke underwater activity.

If you approach springtime bass fishing in a methodical manner, you can't miss, assert the Mercury folks. But you still must fish in the right places.

Grand Slam Homers Feature Little League East, Wins

A last inning grand slam homer by Daniel Hebert gave the Bombers a one-run victory in the opening game of the season Saturday before a small group of stalwart fans who braved the cold weather to watch the double-header.

A first inning grand slam home run by pitcher Gary Safford led his Panthers to an early lead in the second game, and ultimately, behind his steady pitching, to victory.

At the pre-game ceremonies, Robert Nooney, Agawam Little League president, exhorted the parents to get out and work on a "fair share basis" reminding them that they were a necessary part of the team, whether it be for Little League, Scouts, the Y, church or school activities. He cited that there was no such thing as Juvenile Delinquency, but rather it should be called Parental Delinquency and admonished the parents that the time to help their children is now in their formative years.

Mr. Nooney again asked for help from fathers for umpiring the evening games, and helping keep the field in shape. He also reminded them that Saturday, May 14 is Tag Day and drivers are needed at 10 a.m. at the School Street Field with boys in uniforms.

Release of 100 balloons from pitcher's mound featured the pre-game ceremonies.

Line scores were—First Game, Bombers 7 runs, 7 hits, 1 error and Corvairs 6 runs, 7 hits and 2 errors. Umpires—S. Safford, R. Filiault.

Second Game, Panthers 9 runs, 7 hits, 0 errors and Senators 3 runs, 5 hits and 3 errors. Umpires—L. Kittler, R. Johnson.

My Sentiments, Too

Newport, Tenn.
General Sessions Court Judge Benton Giles, defeated in a recent Republican primary, inserted an advertisement in the Newport Plain Talk to thank the people who voted for him.

"Thanks," the advertisement began.

Just below the ad was a similar one, signed by Mrs. Giles.

"Thanks," it began.

"I want to thank the voters of Cocke County for not voting for my husband. Now that he is out of politics I may be able to get him in church."

Boating Tips...

LOADING
Never step on the gunwale of a small boat (it's pronounced "gun-nel" and refers to the top edge of the boat's side). Step as nearly in the center of the craft as possible. Step aboard, don't jump, and use your hands to steady yourself. Never let your fingers come between the gunwale and dock. Don't carry your Mercury outboard or other gear aboard. Place it on the edge of the dock, get aboard, then lift the equipment in after you. If the dock is high and you are alone, consider lowering the motor into the boat with a line while standing on the dock. If the boat is pulled to shore for loading, one person should steady the boat while others climb in over the bow. Those who go aboard first should sit near the stern to raise the bow so it can be easily shoved off by the last person to climb in.

To satisfy the itch for money...scratch for it.

The script of Lawrence Roman's Broadway success, "Under the Yum Yum Tree," calls for an extra, added affect to be created and performed completely independent of and yet related to the play. The Director, Doreen J. Deliso very wisely chose Miss Goss for the special appearance.

Her interpretation of the part brings out her natural wit in another excellent performance. Don't miss it!

The next regular meeting of the Agawam Lions Club will be held in the Agawam Congregational Church Hall on Wednesday, May 18. Radio personality Paul Monson will show his latest travelogue.

A delegation will represent the Club at the annual State Convention this weekend at the New Ocean House in Swampscott. Ovide Cadran of the East Springfield Club is the only candidate for election to the office of 33-Y District Governor, but considerable controversy will occur on the acceptance of several resolutions on the agenda.

Tickets are available for the May 22nd Chicken Bar-B-Que to be held at the Club's building in the Eastern States Exposition for the benefit of Massachusetts Lions Eye Research.

United States Army commanders in Vietnam are about to make a big mistake. They are going to ask the troops what they think of the food.

The 1st Infantry Division is testing three new types of rations.

One is a 25-man, dehydrated arrangement which offers 18 different kinds of menus. Another is a long-range patrol ration and the third is a ready-to-eat individual meal.

After trying this chow for a month, an Army announcement said, "the troops eating the new rations will be asked to fill out forms with their comments on the food."

Final Reminder:

Auto Inspection

Deadline May 15

Registrar Richard E. McLaughlin today issued a last call to motor vehicle operators to have vehicles inspected before the deadline, midnight, May 15.

The law applies to all motor vehicles registered and operated in Massachusetts at any time during the inspection period from April 1 to May 15.

Owners and operators are reminded that many official stations will be closed on the last day of inspection which is a Sunday. "Failure to comply with the compulsory motor vehicle inspection leaves authorities no choice but to prosecute owners or persons in control of motor vehicles or trailers not displaying the red windshield inspection sticker," said Registrar McLaughlin.

PROMENADERS

SQUARE DANCE

By Beryl and Doug Shaylor

Last Friday night the Agawam Promenaders and their guests thrilled to the outstanding calling of Dick Mastriani. Dick and his lovely wife, Winnie, are both full of fun. This was one of the happiest square dances we have attended.

Among our guests was caller Henry Cosimino and his wife. Henry added to the fun by pitching in and calling one tip for us.

Our final dance of the season will be Friday, May 20, with caller Dick Steele of Lexington, Mass. At the close of the dancing the club will hold its annual business meeting. At this time the new officers who will govern the club for the coming season will be chosen. The Nominating Committee of Bob and Dot Budri, Maynard and Betty Connell, Ed and Teddy Moriarty, Roger and Bea Rioux and Elmer and June Roosa have obtained a slate of candidates for consideration. All members are urged to attend this most important meeting.

"COMING EVENTS"

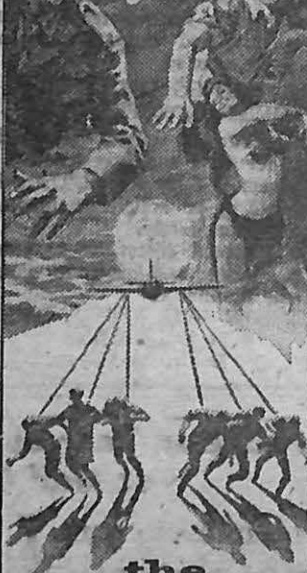

The club's annual steak roast will be held June 11th at the Sacred Heart Pavillion. Al and Elaine Taupier, chairmen, have announced that more than 20 couples have already signed up for the event. This is a closed dance for members only but reservations must be made.

The baseball, track, golf, and tennis teams are the make-up of Agawam's spring sports. Mr. Faucette, biology teacher, coaches the varsity baseball team. Although the team, has three captains, has not had a spectacular season, the boys are now playing better. The track team, coached by Mr. Drabik, has had a very good season so far. This AHS team also has three captains. Another team that is having a good season is the AHS tennis team. On afternoons, the team and its coach, Mr. Altobelli, can be seen playing on the tennis courts. The golf squad, the newest team at Agawam High, has had a good season. This team, plays its home games at Feeding Hills Country Club, is coached by Mr. Harmon Smith, Athletic Director at Agawam.

All these teams doing well or average, are trying to bring their standings up and are doing this with all the support of the student body and faculty at Agawam High.

W.S. Co-op. Bank To Pay Their Largest Dividend

Directors of the West Springfield Co-operative Bank have voted a dividend of $177,842 for the quarter ended April 13, and Earle C. Harvey, treasurer and executive officer, said this is the largest quarterly dividend ever paid by the bank since its founding in 1897. The dividend was payable May 11.

Mr. Harvey said that income of the West Springfield Co-operative Bank for the quarter ended April 13 was $286,700, also a record figure.

He told the directors that earnings for the past 12 months were $925,829, a new high figure, and that the record high dividend payout for the year amounts to $678,905, representing 73 percent of earnings.

Discussing the bank's dividend schedule, Mr. Harvey announced that West Springfield Co-operative Bank has introduced saving certificates, paying 4 1/2 percent interest, with interest beginning on the day of deposit. There are no withdrawal restrictions.

"I am confident that this new savings certificate plan, with its competitive rate, will attract additional thrift attention," Mr. Harvey said. The savings certificates provide a fourth savings category at the bank.

The director voted to continue the present rates of 4 1/2 percent on serial shares, 4 1/2 percent on paid-up shares, and 4 1/4 percent on savings accounts.

The bank's total assets on April 13 had reached the record figure of $19,170,961, an increase of $1,270,491 over the year-ago figure of $17,900,470, with Mr. Harvey noting that West Springfield Co-operative Bank had just passed the milestone $19 million mark in assets.

Savings deposits on April 13 totaled $16,549,226, an increase of $756,027 over the $15,793,199 a year ago. Mortgage loans on April 13 were $16,028,311, compared with $15,050,873 a year ago, a gain of $977,437.

"Savings and mortgage activity are at good levels, and West Springfield Co-operative Bank is continuing its record of good growth," Mr. Harvey said.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SECURITY, BUREAU OF RETIREMENT AND DISABILITY

Q. I have read that my monthly widow's benefits, if started at 60, will be reduced. Will you explain this please?

A. Any widow who files when she is 60 or 61 will have her monthly benefit reduced according to the number of months she will receive benefits before 62. This reduction will be permanent.

Q. I am a woman who wishes to marry an attractive widower who is not eligible for social security, but I will be 60 next year. I do not want to jeopardize the social security payments to which I will be eligible on my deceased husband's wage record. Isn't there anything that can help me?

A. If you marry this attractive widower after you are 60, your benefits will be lower than if you had not remarried. Instead of receiving the regular widow's benefit (reduced because of your age) at 60, you will receive only one-half of your deceased husband's social security retirement benefit. If you remarry before you are 60, you cannot receive benefits on your deceased husband's record.

Q. I have been married twice. The first marriage ended when my husband died and the second marriage was ended by divorce. The first marriage lasted 21 years and the second 23 years. I heard I may be eligible for benefits under the new social security law. Is this true?

A. You may be eligible for benefits on the record of your divorced husband. You will have to establish that certain support requirements were met. Check with your social security office for further details. Of course, you can receive benefits only if your second husband is eligible for benefits.

Q. What is the new health insurance program, popularly known as Medicare?

A. Health insurance for people 65 and over is a two-part program—basic hospital insurance and voluntary supplementary medical insurance.

Q. What benefits does the basic plan provide generally?

A. Generally, the basic plan provides inpatient hospital services, post-hospital extended care services, posthospital home health services and outpatient diagnostic services.

Q. Is it necessary for a person to be getting social security retirement benefits in order to qualify for Medicare?

A. No. A person 65 or over does
